Hiring Team

I hope this message finds you well. My name is Hritij Rana, and I'm a final year student at Netaji Subhas University of Technology, New Delhi, India pursuing my bachelor's degree in Computer science engineering with applied Mathematics.

I'm passionate about Python programming and has been programming in Python for more than 3 years now. I'm also super passionate about building stuffs like developing applications in Flutter and understanding Data Structure and Algorithms. I've participated in a lot of (50+) coding competitions and hackathons as well. I've also built 2D Python game during my fresher's year just out of fun for Python language (included in resume).

I'm currently looking for software developer role. I'd greatly appreciate any insights or guidance you might have about this industry.

I completely understand if your schedule is tight, but if you have a few minutes to spare, I'd love to connect and learn from your experiences.

Thank you for considering my message. Looking forward to the possibility of connecting.
